ZPH Science Lunch

January 21, 2021 / 12:00 - 13:00

Virtual Webex Event

Jakob Weitzer, MSc

Department of Epidemiology

“Optimism & Health”

In the last few years it has been shown that optimism is prospectively associated with better health. As part of the Science Lunch Series, Jakob Weitzer from the Department of Epidemiology will elaborate on several key aspects of this link, e.g. What is optimism? Is it really optimism that leads to better health, and if so, can the training of optimism promote health?
